GOATS HELPING NATURE IN CRÉMINES

Structure : Pro Natura

Crémines (Bernese
Jura)

In Crémines, in the Bernese Jura, approximately 8 hectares of the “Trois Tilleuls” and “Petite Fin” pastures—listed in the inventory of dry grasslands and pastures of national importance—have been becoming heavily overgrown for years due to the decline of agriculture. To prevent this exceptional habitat from disappearing, Pro Natura has launched a project to restore the site. The goat herd on which the project relies is managed by a young farmer who is highly motivated by this collaboration.
