Welcome to the Domaine de Silans Association—a nonprofit organization dedicated to fostering an appreciation for nature and the natural world.

We manage the Bozzi Educational Farm, a unique place where education meets a passion for animals and respect for the environment.

The Bozzi Farm, located in Ambronay in the Ain department (01), welcomes you to the heart of its magnificent park. It is now managed by the Le Domaine Silans Association, which supports the development of an educational and environmental project dedicated to exploring nature, respecting animals, and raising environmental awareness.

The farm offers educational and ecological activities to explore nature and animals:

- caring for and feeding the animals,
- sensory trails,
- exploring the park and the pond,
- visits for schools and organizations,
- and a traveling farm to reach out to everyone.

At the Domaine de Silans association, we believe that respect for life and the environment begins at a very young age. We teach kindness toward animals, the preservation of the land, and the value of local products, while supporting our region's farmers and producers.

Our Goals

To awaken future generations to nature, promote respect for living things, and encourage local and responsible consumption.

We offer:
