A recycling center that promotes waste reduction and reuse through bicycle and textile workshops

Structure : Recup'R

Bordeaux New Aquitaine

Récup'R is a recycling center that promotes waste reduction and reuse through participatory and community-based workshops.

These workshops encourage self-repair in sewing and bicycle mechanics. In the workshops, members find the tools and advice they need to repair their bikes or clothing and learn how to give objects a second life.

You can buy bikes to repair, repaired bikes, and fabric scraps...

Located in Bordeaux Belcier, these spaces are staffed by employees and volunteers. The association promotes DIY, social interaction, and mutual aid Récup'R collects everything related to sewing, from haberdashery to textile work: from a simple needle to a sewing machine, including haberdashery supplies (thread, wool, ribbons, bias tape, buttons, zippers, etc.). We do not accept clothing (there are already organizations dedicated to giving it a second life), but we do accept fabric scraps and remnants…

THE SHOP

Entirely stocked by Récup'R members, the shop is full of diverse and surprising items. We also take orders but do not offer alterations. Récup'R is first and foremost a recycling center. As such, it gives new life to everyday items… (making objects from plastic tarps, inner tubes…)
