OUR GOAL IS TO EXTEND THE LIFESPAN OF SPORTS EQUIPMENT AND REDUCE WASTE FROM SPORTS GEAR AND CLOTHING

Convinced that sports have a role to play in the ecological transition, HexEco supports the sports ecosystem on the ground through two main initiatives:

- Promoting sustainable consumption in sports through the circular economy:

Our activities include the collection, sorting, and recovery through reuse, repair, and recycling of end-of-life sports equipment. Secondhand equipment is sold at affordable prices to make sports accessible to everyone, particularly the most disadvantaged.

Our goal is thus to extend the life of equipment and reduce waste generated by sports activities.

- Raising awareness of environmental preservation through sports:

We lead fun, group workshops on environmental education and sustainable development to encourage eco-citizenship through sports.

The goal is to raise awareness and empower citizens regarding climate change and its impact on sports participation, fostering harmony with the environment through sports.

Our goal is to build and unite a community around socially conscious sports by implementing responsible best practices and sustainable solutions.
