Educational Beehive and Partnership

Building connections, finding meaning.

“Bring Back Your Seed” is a beekeeping approach based on the “detour” pedagogy: we learn by doing, we work on ourselves while working for nature. Beekeeping becomes a lever for integration and personal growth within social impact organizations.

It is also a way to take concrete action for local nature by installing hives in businesses and bringing life into the heart of organizations.

Beekeeping becomes a living bridge, a golden thread connecting the social organization and the business. By committing to this project, the social impact organization creates a bridge between its beneficiaries and the business world, fostering inclusion and the transmission of shared values.
