Eco-community: an eco-friendly, intergenerational, community-driven housing project

Structure : ECORAVIE

Difficulté : facile

Dieulefit (Drôme)

Écoravie is located in the Drôme region and is part of the OASIS cooperative

Founded in March 2009 in Dieulefit in the Drôme region, Écoravie is an iconic collective, eco-friendly, and community-oriented housing project. Comprising around forty people, the collective has distinguished itself in particular for its ability to construct large residential buildings using bioclimatic design. Three net-zero-energy buildings have already been completed, and a community house will soon follow

The project consists of creating an eco-village comprising three buildings, each with 5 to 7 units, as well as a community center for residents' use that is open to the village. The choice of a concentrated housing layout allows for maximum preservation of the natural environment. The units range from approximately 50 to 110 m² and include layouts from one-bedroom to four- or five-bedroom apartments. In each of the three buildings, a laundry room and storage areas will be shared.

The three residential buildings are constructed using natural, healthy, bio-based materials (wood, straw, earth) and local techniques focused on sustainable development
