Preserving fruit-bearing heritage

Structure : Forgotten Fruits Network (FOR)

Difficulté : facile

Lunel Occitanie

Fruits Oubliés Network brings together enthusiasts of ecology, biodiversity, and food, as well as those interested in sharing knowledge and fostering dialogue.

If today heirloom fruit varieties and unique fruits are a bit more in vogue, it's thanks to the conservation work that's been done. And yet, they're still hard to find in stores or at markets.

Our association publishes the magazine "Fruits Oubliés," which is celebrating its 25th anniversary: an indispensable resource for learning about, protecting, and tasting our fruit heritage, as well as fruit and food biodiversity.

- The quarterly magazine "Fruits Oubliés"
- Technical handbooks
- Other publications on fruit heritage

Alongside this editorial work, FOR is developing network coordination and advocacy efforts to contribute to the return of fruits and other healthy, tasty, and nutritious foods
