Founded in 1984, the Atelier Bleu du Cap de l'Aigle is a nonprofit organization dedicated to environmental education and sustainable development that offers a range of activities, from professional training and hands-on educational programs for the general public to strategic support for local communities. Composed of a specialized team, its primary mission is to serve as a driving force in environmental awareness and education. It serves institutions, individuals, and professionals alike.

Our association was awarded the CPIE ("Permanent Center for Environmental Initiatives") certification in 1991. This designation is awarded by the National Union of CPIE, recognized as a public-interest organization and accredited by four ministries:

- Ecology and Sustainable Development,
- National Education,
- Youth and Sports,
- Agriculture.
